

BURGUNDY

After generic "Bourgogne" wine, there are some 100 "Appellations" in Burgundy. Half of all Burgundy is produced by 23 regional appellations such as Macon, Cremant (mainly sparkling), La Chapelle Notre-Dame and Hautes Cotes de Nuits. The next level of quality applies to 44 communal appellations that produce some 10% of Burgundy's wine - these are vineyards (or "climats") classified as Premier Cru, often abbreviated to "1er Cru". They include famous names such as Aloxe-Corton, Blagny, Chambolle-Musigny, Gevrey Chambertin and Vosne Romanee. Finally, at the very peak, there are 33 vineyards with the right to the Grand Cru designation, the most famous (and fabulously expensive !) of which are the Domaine de la Romanee Conti wines. Grand Cru wines account for less than 2% of total production.
